Eight Children Killed When Flyer Demolishes School Bus on Crossing Three Persons Die in Second Crash

Three Others Severely Injured in Crash Near Ravenna, Ohio.

THREE IN FAMILY DEAD

Fourth Taken to Hospital With Broken Neck; Driver of Vehicle in Same Institution and May Die; Engineer Seen Too Late to Check Speed.

By United Press.
ATWATER, Ohio, Oct. 11.—Eight children were killed and three severely injured today when a bus crowded with school children was demolished by "The Clevelander," the fastest train on the Pennsylvania road between New York and Cleveland.

The accident occurred at Lambert's Crossing, a short distance from here. The engineer saw the vehicle too late to jump on the brakes. A second later there was a terrific crash.

The children, some instantly killed, some dying, others badly injured, were hurled in all directions. The locomotive ploughed through the wreckage, scattering it for several hundred feet along the right of way.

As soon as the train came to a stop, members of the crowd and passengers began picking up the victims.

The bus was used by the county to convey children to and from school. A few minutes after the crash the dead, dying and injured were taken on the train and rushed to Ravenna where doctors and nurses were waiting at the station.

The passengers on the limited received their first warning that something had happened when they were jarred from their seats as the air brakes clamped to the wheels.

A moment later there was a second shock as the engine hit the bus.

Through the air windows passengers on the forward cars saw the wreckage of the bus dropping along the tracks. They had fleeting glimpses of small figures lying along the track or trying to totter to their feet.

"The Clevelander," one of the fastest trains in the East, was due in Cleveland at 8:50 A. M.

An attempt to prevent such tragedies was made by the last Ohio Legislature which passed the "hazard law," requiring school bus drivers to bring their machines to halt before crossing railroads or interurban tracks.

Lambert's Crossing is five miles from Ravenna. There were 18 children in the bus, a horse-drawn vehicle, being transported to school in Hootstown township.

Four of the children of G. G. Shaw, a farmer, were in the bus. Three of them, Mildred, 11; Harold, 9, and Vera, two, were killed outright.

The fourth, Lawrence, 11, is in a Ravenna hospital with a broken back. Lewis Klein of New Millford, driver of the bus, is in the same hospital. His injuries may prove fatal.

Following is the official list of dead:

Mildred Shaw, 11; Harold Shaw, 9; Vera Shaw, 2; Thomas Bonchert, 9; Margaret Klein, 12; Julia Wagoner, 13; Ella Stanke, 14; Richard Silvani, 2.

Funds Coming In Very Slowly For Hollowell

Plans for the big Hollowell celebration being planned by the West Side Volunteer Fire Department for the city on Friday evening, October 26, have been slowed up by the lack of subscriptions toward the necessary fund.

Firesmen have always run into this same difficulty, and it is the only reason the organization hesitates to get behind the celebration movement. The firesmen do not hesitate to carry out all the work connected with the event but they never roll in the work of soliciting funds for prizes, especially when they are not cordially received.

Noise of the money given the committee goes to the fire company.

The firesmen have given considerable time to soliciting this week but are still quite short of the amount desired. The final meeting before the celebration is scheduled for next Thursday evening and it is desired to complete the canvass before that time in order to give the committee an opportunity to draw up a prize list for submission to the meeting.

Troop 8 Meeting.
Troop No. 8, Boy Scouts, will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow evening at the United Presbyterian Church at 7 o'clock sharp. Scoutmaster J. M. Southard, Jr., requests a good attendance of members, as important business will be transacted.

Train Goes Over Embankment, Driver Of Engine Killed

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—The engineer of a fast Philadelphia freight train was killed today when his engine plunged over a 15-foot embankment at Hershey, near here. The engine overturned and two freight cars, loaded with oil and paint, telescoped over it. The dead engineer is Charles A. Ahn, 38, of Allentown. He was found pinned under the locomotive.

Fire from the engine ignited the paint and started a blaze which for a time threatened the others cars of the train. Twenty-five cars in all went over the embankment.

HOWARD H. KING AGAIN IS ROLL CALL CHAIRMAN

Uniontown Man Named Because of Success of the Campaign Last Year.

TIME NOVEMBER 11-29

In Making Appeal for Support of People of County Chairman J. Fred Kurtz Declares Work Being Done Now Will Be Felt for 25 Years.

J. Fred Kurtz, chairman of the Fayette County Red Cross, announced today the appointment of Howard H. King of Uniontown as chairman for the Seventh Red Cross Roll Call for Fayette county.

The roll call will be conducted from Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving Day, November 29.

Mr. King served in the same capacity last year and the results he obtained were so splendid that Mr. Kurtz was prompted to again secure his services for this most important task.

Mr. King is a partner in the Crescent Supply Company, Bessemer Supply Company and Mount Hope Supply Company, with offices in the Fayette Title and Trust Building, Uniontown.

In addition to serving as roll call chairman last year, Mr. King has had experience in other campaigns, having taken an active part in the Uniontown Hospital campaign, as well as Red Cross, Liberty Loan and War Chest drives during the war.

Mr. Kurtz in making the appointment said:

"I am happy indeed to announce the appointment of Mr. King as chairman for the Seventh Red Cross Roll Call for members. The splendid results of last year's campaign makes it advisable for the Fayette County Red Cross to seek his services for another year. The annual roll call is of utmost importance to the Red Cross organization in Fayette county, and without a successful roll call, Red Cross work could not be carried on here in the manner it has been for years past, and to lessen its efforts or out down the volume of its activities would work a most pronounced hardship throughout the entire county."

"The work the Red Cross organization is doing in Fayette county now will be felt beneficially 25 years from now and longer."

Roll call headquarters will be open immediately at the offices of the Fayette County Chapter in Uniontown and the machinery will be put in motion at once for the perfecting of a county organization to enroll members in the American Red Cross for the year 1924.

Roll call supplies and advertising material are already in the hands of the chapter and they will be distributed to the various districts of the county at least two weeks before the opening of the campaign.

By United Press.

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 11.—A fast Pennsylvania express train crashed into a motor bus loaded with 10 passengers at a grade crossing near Hubbsville, 10 miles north of here, at 8:08 A. M. today, completely wrecking the bus, killing three and seriously injuring seven others, two probably fatally.

The bus is owned by W. F. Morrill of this city and runs between Williamsport and Blossburg. The train was on the Elgin Division and was running fast, as it does not stop at Hubbsville.

The dead are: George G. Ault, 55, of Williamsport; Mrs. Sarah Hall, 15, Williamsport; Mrs. W. C. Anderson, Williamsport.

The bus had stopped about 25 feet from the crossing to discharge passengers and the driver was changing from second to high gear when going over the crossing and failed to see the train. The engine crashed squarely into the center of the bus and two of the dead, with parts of the bus, were carried 750 feet before the train was stopped.

Hairpins Found in Wallace's Bed Are Mrs. Stokes' Claim

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—There were two gold hairpins in Edgar Wallace's bed this morning after his fatal shooting. Mrs. Stokes was seen to enter the wealthy engineer's apartment and there was red hair in the comb and brush on the dresser, Lillian Payne colored maid, testified at today's hearing of W. B. Stokes suit for divorce.

Lillian admitted under cross-examination that she was a friend of Hattie Jackson, colored girl indicted, together with Stokes, the millionaire's attorney and others in Chicago for attempting to defame Mrs. Stokes' character.

She told the court of seeing Wallace and Mrs. Stokes enter the former's "pleasure" apartment in 35th street, go into the bedroom and close the door. "That, she said, was all she had seen, until making the bed next day, she took out the hairpins. In the engineer's comb and brush, she said, were red locks that certainly had not come from Wallace's head. She said that on one other occasion she saw Mrs. Stokes enter the apartment."

Samuel Undermyer, attorney for Mrs. Stokes, made the customary attack upon the character and reliability of witness, causing her to confess she was separated from her husband and friendly with women who were allegedly in Stokes' pay.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A red-haired woman—a double of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes—visited the apartment of Edgar Wallace at No. 15, East 36th street, last night, according to the defense in the Stokes divorce case, testified in court today.

The defense has a picture of this woman but has been unable to ascertain her name or whereabouts, Shapiro indicated. The lawyer was called to the stand by the prosecution in an effort to make him produce the mysterious red-haired woman.

TWO ARRESTS MADE AS SEQUEL TO THEFT OF AUTOMOBILES

Joe Popson and Edward Kamitz, Trotter Youths, Placed in Local Lockup.

ONE CARRIED A REVOLVER

According to Officers They Attempted to Remove Machine From Garage at Vanderbilt; Thefts Going on Two Months in Trotter Community.

Following the arrest at Vanderbilt Wednesday of Joe Popson, 17 years old, and Edward Kamitz, 16 years old, both of Trotter, by Officer Rittersour of Vanderbilt, authorities said they believed the automobile thefts which have been occurring around Trotter and Brookville have been solved. The two youths were arrested when they attempted to take a stolen machine from the Reed garage at Vanderbilt where it had been taken Wednesday after having been abandoned on the Vanderbilt road.

On Tuesday night a car belonging to a Charlestown woman, visiting at the home of Ernest Guy of Trotter, was stolen. Wednesday it was found ditched near Dickerson Run and taken to the Reed garage. A short time later, according to the police, the two young men went there and endeavored to drive off with the machine. They are said to have climbed it as their own.

The suspicions of Mr. Reed were aroused and he refused to allow them to leave the car. The boys persisted and Reed used force. When he grasped Popson a revolver fell from his pocket. The Vanderbilt officer was called and the two boys placed under arrest. They were brought here and put in the city lock-up. Charges will be preferred against them by the officer.

For two months automobiles have been stolen in the vicinity of Trotter, always to be found later, abandoned, indicating the thief or thieves had taken them only for joy-riding. It is believed the practice will stop with the arrest of the young men.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—Robert M. Braun, chief of Allegheny county detectives and a squad of operatives are patrolling Stone township prepared to meet any emergency that might arise in consequence of the action of a self appointed "vigilance" committee in ordering negroes from the district.

Chief Braun was instructed to see that no unlawful methods were used to intimidate negroes and at the same time was checking up on a number of negroes the "vigilance" committee had reported as undesirable citizens.

R. L. Vann, a negro attorney, today protested to Chief Braun against the action of the "vigilance" committee and was given assurance that all law abiding negroes of the district would be protected.

The situation arose after the killing Saturday night of Thomas Rowland, 73, and the wounding of his 11 year old grand-daughter by a negro who escaped.

REV. W. R. WARREN GREETED FRIENDS OF FORMER DAYS

St. Louis Editor Speaks at Christian Church He Served 25 Years Ago.

CONFERENCE ON TONIGHT

President Cloyd Goodnight of Bethany College Will Meet Officials and Others Relative to Dedication of New Bible School Plant Sunday.

Rev. W. R. Warren, former pastor of the Christian Church here, now editor of World Call, magazine of the Disciples of Christ published at St. Louis, came back last night to the scene of his work of a quarter of a century ago, delivering the address at the church dedication service at the church. The largest audience of the week greeted him.

In his talk Rev. Warren paid tribute to two persons he said were outstanding figures in the church then and who have since died, namely, John Darge, who was chairman of the building committee at the time of the erection of the present church, which was dedicated soon after Rev. Warren came, and Martha Norton, for whom the women's Bible class of the Sunday school is named. The latter, he said, made it a rule of her life to be as faithful in attendance at the mid-week prayer services as Sunday worship.

Mr. Bargo, the speaker said, practically laid aside his personal affairs for a year to direct the building of the church, and so well did he do it, he added, that it has been unnecessary since to do it over.

After the service there was an informal reception for Rev. Warren. Rev. F. B. Holton of New Salem presided. Rev. L. H. Stevens made the invocation and Rev. J. L. Proudfoot offered prayer.

This evening at 6:15 o'clock President Cloyd Goodnight of Bethany College will meet the official board, the building committee and a few others at a round table conference following a luncheon to be served by the Martha Norton Bible Class. This is not to be a social function but one at which the plan for the dedication of the Bible school building Sunday will be discussed. Rev. Warren will be at the conference. J. M. Allison, former pastor, also is expected to arrive from Cleveland. President Goodnight, Rev. Warren and Mr. Allison will remain over Sunday.

Friday evening at 6:45 o'clock a "winter picnic" will be held at the church. To this are invited members of the church and Bible school and their friends. The only requirement is that each family bring a picnic basket. The Philanthropic Club will arrange for the serving of the lunch.

Steel Tonnage Orders Lowest Since in March

The high mark this year was reached in March with 5,403,322 tons.

September's tonnage statement compares with a reduction of 494,148 in August below the month before and indicates that the corporation's incoming business last month was between 750,000 and 800,000 tons as compared with less than 700,000 in August.

Yanks Pass Up an Early Opportunity To Score on Giants

By United Press.

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Right at the outset today the Yanks passed up the opportunity to score. Wirt, the first man up, went out on an easy bounce but both Dugan and Ruth walked. McQuillan, on the mound for the Giants, was plainly nervous. R. Meusel was up. The day was saved by lightning work on the part of the Giant infield when a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly retired the side. The Giants went down in their half of the first, three batters being retired in a row. Ponack was on the mound for the Yanks.

The battle was the opening of the home games for the Giants and the usual trimmings and embellishments were on the bill. Commissioner Landis tossed out the first ball.

The team came on the field at 12:30 o'clock but the fans were too busy watching Nick Altrock and his partner, Al Schacht, to be interested in the athletes. Weather prospects became good shortly afternoon and it looked like another record crowd.

The score, play by play, in the first inning: Yanks, Wirt up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ball two, outside. Wirt out. Frisch to Kelly on an easy bounce. Dugan up. Ball one, outside; ball two, low; ball three, high and inside; Dugan walked on four straight balls; Ruth up, ball one, outside. McQuillan was very wild; ball two, low. Strike one, called; Ruth kicked on the called strike. Ball three, low and outside; Kelly, retired the side. The Giants gathered around McQuillan and Snyder looked at the bench. R. Meusel up. Strike one, called; ball one, low and outside; Meusel hit into a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors. McQuillan was in a bad way all through and was saved by a very fast double play.

First inning, Giants: Bancroft up. Ball one, outside, strike one, called; foul strike two; Bancroft out. Scott to Pipp on an easy roller. Frisch up. Ball one, low and white; strike one, called; Frisch out. Pipp on a bounce; Frisch up. Frisch out. Ward to Pipp. No runs, no hits, no errors.

At the end of the fourth inning the score was 4-1, with the Yanks leading. Each team scored one run in the second, when home runs were delivered by both sides.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea
and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Weil's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

Stinner Dug Coal For 10 Hours a Day

By HERMANN C. M. JAHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
BERLIN (By Mail to United Press).
Hugo Stinner, demanding the ten hours' working day, knows what it means from personal experience.

Unlike most of the other German capitalists of industry, he is a self-made man.

Although his father was a wealthy industrialist, young Hugo wanted to begin at the beginning.

After finishing college he first became an apprentice in a Coblenz business firm.

He was 18 (in 1888) when he left Coblenz and for 10 months dug coal like any other miner far under the ground, which was at that time a 10-hour job.

After this experience he took successfully a position as a workman in a machine and boiler works.

Only after going through such practical experience Hugo Stinner went into a technical high school. In 1893 he considered his education finished.

With 50,000 marks, which he had inherited from his mother, he then proceeded to found his own firm, instead of going into his father's business.

Such were the beginnings of Hugo Stinner, who is now Germany's—maybe Europe's—leading industrialist.

Railroads Earned Almost 5% in August

Class 1 railroads of the country earned in August at the annual rate of 3.84 per cent on their tentative valuation as fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate making purposes, including additions and betterments up to January 1, 1923. Aggregate net railway operating income was $98,351,200.

Last year's net for August was $91,475,400, at an annual rate of 3.64 per cent.

Weather Changes Cause Sickness.
Extreme changes of weather during Fall cause many colds and coughs. For quick relief from throat, chest and bronchial trouble, coughs, colds and croup use Foley's Kidney and Lung Pills. Contains no opiates. Ingredients printed on the wrapper. Largest selling cough medicine in the world. "Foley's Kidney and Lung Pills" is the most pleasant and efficient remedy for coughs and colds that I ever saw," writes Wm. Jones, El Paso, Illinois. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. Makes a cough stop in 10 minutes.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few minutes. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 10 minutes. Tastes pleasant, even children like it. It is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quiet, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membrane that lines the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

How to Make Mirrors Create Cheerfulness

Adroit mirror usage in the small, rather shadowed hall creates an atmosphere of cheerfulness. Place within its range a bowl of pretty flowers, roses, or simple garden blooms and note the brightening effect that the reflection of their colors creates. From another angle the gay china hangings at one of the living room windows, glimpsed through the open door, are repeated in the mirror surface, supplying a vivid touch to the number wall on which the mirror hangs. The value of a mirror in such a spot cannot be overestimated, so if your hall is a bit shadowy, by all means employ a mirror to give the needed brightening touch.

In rooms facing the north, in which the sun refuses to shine during the long winter months, use a mirror in conjunction with touches of orange or red. No colors bring such a warmth of tone as orange or red, yet they are infrequently employed, because they are so little understood. Let us suppose our choice for effect is orange, our bedroom and our wall covering putty toned. Hang the mirror above the black chest of drawers which shows as decoration narrow bands of orange. Choose an orange runner for the bureau top, softened at the end with bleedings of old blue. Repeat these tints in the curtain hangings, and on the floor lay a two-tone blue rug. Introduce a predominance of orange in the chair cushions, and hang within range of the mirror a well pocket of blue luster, filled with a change of orange, bitter-sweet vases. Before the blue bedspread in orange and then behold the result! This vivid orange will be repeated from every angle in the mirror's reflecting surface, bringing the glint of sunlight to add a welcome touch, but its vividness will not be overemphasized, thanks to the tending influence of the blue and the softening shadows of blue—Arts and Decoration.

Floral Bandeaux and Bracelets for Girls

A pleasing novelty designed for debutantes' wear is a new floral bandeau with a matching bracelet, made of narrow black velvet or gold or silver ribbon. Clusters of tiny artificial flowers are arranged, either across the front or on either side of the band, while a little rosette pony to match them adorns the bracelet.

Other adornments for debutantes' wear show bracelets and long chains made of three strands of seed pearls, held at intervals by clasp of onyx, for onyx and pearl ornaments are now becoming every where as fashionable as onyx and diamonds.

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY IN TAXES AS WELL AS BUSINESS.

To some persons it will doubtless be a surprise to learn that their unintentional neglect to include the profits on sales of real estate in their income tax returns subjects them to heavy penalties. To others who were aware of the provisions of the law and purposely evaded such sales as items in their taxable income, the warnings issued by Collector Hoiser will have no uncertain meaning.

It having come to the knowledge of the Internal Revenue Department that a very large number of persons who sold real estate during the years 1920, 1921 and 1922 did not report the profits therefrom when filing their income tax returns, a systematic investigation of the records of property transfers is being made in order to check up on the delinquents. While some of these omissions were the result of unfamiliarity with the law, and in other cases were due to an erroneous interpretation of a ruling of the United States Supreme Court, there are circumstances which lead to the presumption that other omissions were made with an avowed intention of evading the income regulations.

At any rate the department intends to round up all evaders and give them an opportunity to file amended returns. If in these returns, or others to be made for the present or succeeding years, the taxpayers do not voluntarily disclose items of income that were omitted, and where the gains from real estate sales have not been reported it will be necessary to assess full penalties, the effect of which will be to make the total tax to be paid very much greater than it would have been had the original returns included every item subject to taxation under the income law and regulations.

This will be merely another instance which proves that honesty in making income tax returns, like honesty in business is the best policy. Moreover, it will also be the means of saving money and no little inconvenience to taxpayers.

BOOTLEGGER AND RECKLESS DRIVER AS INSURANCE RISKS.

The actuaries of insurance companies can figure out to a nicety the expectancy of human life in any of the professions, occupations, vocations or callings. On the basis of these calculations the whole rate structure of life insurance rests. The greater the hazard to which an insured person is subject the higher the premium because of the briefer period the insured will by the law of expectancy, live to pay his premiums.
A result of such calculations has been to create several classifications of risks such as good, ordinary and poor. Those falling outside of the last of these divisions are so poor a risk, from the insurance company's standpoint, that they are classified as uninsurable.

From time to time it has been necessary to make certain revisions in the several classifications, or to add to poor risks persons who engage in new lines of activity which experience proves to be exceptionally hazardous.

An illustration is given in the present efforts of insurance companies to prevent some recently developed undesirable risks from obtaining insurance at rates to which their occupations do not entitle them.
A study of police department and mortuary records has brought to light the fact that the moonshine drinker, the bootlegger and the reckless automobile driver because of their liability to sudden and violent death belong to the "poor risk" classification and are, in fact, undesirable even in that classification.

By the creation of a new "poor risk" list to include these and other persons who court death with impunity, the insurance companies hope later to lower their rates for ordinary risks and thereby materially lessen the cost of insurance to people who do not subject themselves to unusual hazards.

The moonshine drinker, bootlegger and the reckless driver have already removed themselves from the pale of respectability. To be outlawed as insurance risks is the next and quite logical step.

Natural Gas In Interstate Commerce

Pittsburgh Gazette Times

West Virginia has removed its attempt to prevent neighboring states from getting unrestricted supplies of natural gas from within its borders.
On its application the United States Supreme Court has consented to review the cases, supposed to have been settled by decision handed down last summer brought by Pennsylvania and Ohio to invalidate the West Virginia law limiting the quantity of gas that might be delivered outside the state. Allegation that the decision was too broad probably made little impression on the court, which presumably took into consideration every factor then involved in arriving at the conclusion favorable to the original petitioners. But it is now asserted that the decision was incompatible with previous decisions, and it may be that subsequent rulings likewise will be cited in support of the Mountain State's plea.

Perhaps the Supreme Court regarded the present petition as affording welcome opportunity for settling positively the question of control over natural products which has been raised in a variety of ways in recent years. If this be among the grounds for reopening the natural gas controversy, Pennsylvanians dependent on the product of West Virginia wells need not have serious misgivings, we think. At all events, so important an issue will not be decided hastily and our supply of gas hardly will be interfered with before warm weather comes once more, should so unlikely a thing as reversal of the judgment of last summer be accomplished.

On the ultimate decision hinges whether or not there is to be a radical departure from principles which heretofore have governed American domestic commerce, a departure that conceivably would culminate in a marked change in our governmental system.

Next Congress Will Test All Parties

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyrighted, 1929, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Though Congress has not functioned as effectively as the people think it should,
each succeeding session seems to hold more importance in the life of the nation than the previous one.

When you analyze this, you will find that the secret of it is that we are becoming more and more a politically minded people more interested in politics year by year and as a natural result, more critical of politicians and their works.

Congress is made up of politicians and their works. Some day a way may be found to turn it into a true legislative body, where more attention will be paid to national welfare than to individual ambition. But the point of the present situation is that Congress gets its importance from the fact that the lives of individual politicians and groups of them, combined into party organizations, depend on Congress to such an extent that if Congress were abolished the present brand of national politics would practically disappear for a time.

Important to Politicians.
The coming session of Congress is therefore, important to the politicians. It is important to the rest of the country, too, but primarily it is important in its effect on the perpetuation of the present political system in this country. The people probably would manage to murmur along somehow whether Congress met in December or not. The politicians would be entirely out of luck.

The 58th Congress is expected first to show whether Calvin Coolidge is the man for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1924. If he is able to dominate it enough to get farmer relief legislation enacted, and to prevent the liberal-progressive bloc
from defeating his immigration policy, his appropriations for government departments, or from taking the bit in his teeth and enacting a lot of measures not desired at this time by the administration he will be voted a success by his party and probably will be re-nominated.

Second, it is expected to prove the courage, intelligence and strength of the liberal-progressive group headed by Senator La Follette. La Follette has plenty of courage himself and considerable intelligence, but whether he will be able to lead the somewhat hesitant progressive bloc intelligently remains to be seen. See how important this is to the politicians.
If La Follette fails, the old line party organizations of Democrats and Republicans will be that much stronger.
If he does not fail these two party entities will be correspondingly weakened, and La Follette will loom once more as a truly national figure with perhaps millions of voters at his command.

Test for Democrats.
Third, it is expected to show whether Democratic party leadership is capable of uniting the Democratic party. If this can be done, much of

Abe Martin

Active sniping at the Republican program may be accomplished with the aid of the progressive bloc and what is more important a definite and constructive program may be evolved as the basis for the Democratic campaign.

In 1924

All these things will come about or fall to come about through the channels of legislation. Congress will be dealing with hundreds of millions of dollars and questions affecting the welfare of the whole country—to some extent the welfare of the whole world.

HOUSE FOR SALE.

If it should be my lot to sell
The humble house wherein I dwell
What glories I should have to tell

I'd write this notice. Now for sale
A roof that's called many a name
A door where welcome never fails

Eight rooms where joy and mirth
Have been Where most bewitching smiles were
As I
Eight rooms by love kept sweet and clean

Windows through which glad faces peered
To see the duds when he neared
A fireplace where all hearts were
as I

A staircase leading up to bed
And down to mirth when night is fled
And my beloved from foot to head
A little garden walled with care—
Alas, the sky is always fair
Old friends are all the roses there

Oh, should it be my lot to sell
The little house wherein I dwell
What glories I should have to tell

PRINT THIS ABOUT Joint-Ease Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease" is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles. But why not impress on those of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of our customers tell me almost daily. "Some say that it keeps me from turning over in bed at night—others report that for chest colds and sore throat it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing else ever tried that is so efficient for rheumatism, neuritis and even head colds and nasal catarrh." Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thrilling New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, fingers or spine. You'll like to use stainless steel Joint-Ease, for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the aching bones and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony cuts out—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears.—Advertisement.

SCOTSDALE AND MOUNT PLEASANT PLAY SATURDAY

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 11.—Much enthusiasm has been shown over the Scottdale-Mount Pleasant High School football game for Saturday afternoon, to be played at Athletic Park. Great rivalry is shown between the two towns in any kind of sports. Coach Bullock has put the Scottdale team into shape and the showing made by it is unusual this year, while Coach Sullivan of Mount Pleasant has the Mount Pleasant team in better shape than they have ever been.

The last Saturday score of both was unusually good and both schools are looking forward to a good, hard-fought game and both are planning to have their rosters out to a man.

formed: President, Fred Jones; vice-president, William Thompson; secretary, Ben Baldwin; treasurer, John Vallance; board of advisors, Ben Baldwin, John Vallance, William Thompson, William Thomas and John Flannigan.

The players chose Howard Hoddles as captain. All players are urged to be present at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for practice. Any players in the Connelville region who wish to try for a place on the team may meet with them already in line at the park Saturday. Another meeting will be held Saturday evening. The colors chosen by the team are maroon and white.

MICKIE SAYS—

"THEY AREN'T ANY FINEER THAN ENGRAVED CARDS, WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS, INVITATIONS AND SO FORTH, AND IT'S NOT NECESSARY TO GO OUT OF TOWN TO ORDER THIS WORK. AS WE CAN FURNISH ANYTHING YOU WANT, WITH A FINE LOT OF SAMPLES TO CHOOSE FROM."

"MY COITRE IS GONE"

Says Mrs. Tracy: Gained 35 Pounds; Relieved of Choking, Sneezing and Nervousness.

Mrs. Betty Tracy, Petersbrook, Ky., says she will tell personally or by letter of her relief by Scott's Emulsion of a colorless, pleasant-tasting, and easy to take in bed and fat to get her breath. She had gone blind twice.

See the treatment at A. A. Clarke, drug stores everywhere or write Scott's Emulsion Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.—Advertisement.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

Young is to feel going—active, in robust health, your liver and bowels. There's no need of having a yellow complexion—darkening under your eyes—puffy, a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Making Introducing Easy.

One Mother Says:

I found that it made my little boy very self-conscious to be called into a room to say "How do you do" to callers. Now I use a different method. When I have a visitor and wish Bob to come in and be seen I ask him to bring me a book or come and find my dilapidated, or perform some other trifling service. The fact that his mind is occupied with something real to do makes it possible for him to greet the guest with entire lack of self-consciousness.

GOMPERS HAS NO OPPOSITION

By United Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor had no opposition for re-election today as delegates prepared to ballot for officers and voting up affairs of the convention.

Both Gompers and Secretary Frank Morrison were practically certain to be re-elected without opposition.

Important work of the convention has been disposed of today and all controversial resolutions were acted upon.

PRESENT TIME A GREAT AGE

In Future We Will Be Envious For Having Lived During One of the Great Periods.

Without going into the question of nationality in art, I do think we know enough from psychology at present to believe that man produces out of his subconscious mind, that that subconscious mind is the well wherein all the early impressions are stored, and that it is probable that those early impressions are the ones that influence our minds most deeply. So it seems that men will be most apt to produce permanent and valuable things when they move along their own natural lines. Learn from other people all you can, but attach that knowledge to those natural lines. It is not wise to go off on an entirely new line.

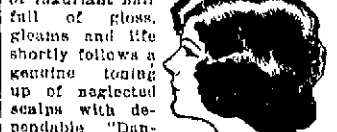

We are living in a renaissance, a time of great spiritual activity. In the future we will be envious for having lived during one of the great periods. That activity in this country has undoubtedly been increased by contact with the wonders of Europe, but let us be sure to use those things to increase our own creative activity; to use them neither merely to collect nor to copy. In the Italian renaissance this is what happened: The old things showed what man had done, and the Italians said: "We, too, are men such as these; we, too, can create"; and the world was suddenly filled with the glory of their achievements. And then knowledge increased and the creative flame burned more freely, and the power of the objects of the antique world became greater than the power of the soul of the antique world; the shadow was taken for the substance. See Santa Maria del Miracoli in Venice, and see there the renaissance alive with creative beauty, making something never before made in just that way; the spirit speaking again through vivid line and form. Then after long years, when man stopped dreaming and had wakened up, knowing facts and forgetting fancy, see the hopeless pile of stone in Paris called the Madeleine.—North American Review.

The Joiners. In curiosity we turn to hear each novel about. And keep on joining things to learn just what they're all about.

Twins Infants Die.

Infant twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Miller of Dunbar died yesterday afternoon a few hours following their birth. The infant was made this morning in Mount Auburn Cemetery, Dunbar.

How to Repair Fountain Pen.

Secure a silk thread as nearly like the color of the pen to be repaired as possible. Then coat the section covering the crack with alcoholic solution of shellac. Before the shellac sets, wrap the section with the silk thread as uniformly as possible, and with all the tension that the thread will stand, making no provision for the ends of the thread except to smooth them down well in the setting shellac. After this shellac is dry, which will only require a few minutes, the job can be finished by covering the thread with another light coat of shellac. The part thus repaired will be the strongest point in the pen, and if it be the barrel of the pen, it will be absolutely necessary that the shellac be light, for if it is heavy it will not make a neat job, whereas if it is too light it will not give the place a second coat, when the first has half set.

The Young Bride (looking in window of jewelry store)—George! I'd love to have that bracelet!

The Husband—I can't afford to buy it for you, dear.

The Bride—But if you could, you wouldn't you?

The Bride—Why?

The Husband—It isn't good enough, dear.

The Wife—Oh, you darling.—Life.

Important to Know About Brunswick Tires--They Are Friction-Proofed

Friction is the greatest enemy of tire life, for friction develops heat and heat destroys rubber. Yet, in running friction is constantly created—it cannot be avoided. Tires are friction-heated in gaining road hold, a touch on the brake multiplies it. So naturally, a driver is constantly combatting the friction which is created.

Since friction cannot be avoided, it was left for Brunswick to discover a rubber-compound which would counteract friction-generated heat in tires. They did it! After years of experimenting! And here it is in these Brunswick Tires. Certain elements in their manufacture prevents in a great measure the damage usually done by friction to ordinary tires. Try them at these low prices.

"I didn't speak," said Mr. Mortimer. "Who am I, to speak?" he went on bitterly. "Who am I, that I should be supposed that I have anything sensible to suggest?"

"Somebody spoke," said Jane. "I did."

"Achou!"

"Do you feel a draught, Mr. Bennett?" cried Jane, sharply wheeling round on him.

"There is a draught," began Mr. Bennett.

"Well, bluish sneezing and I'll go on," it didn't sneeze!

"Somebody sneezed!"

"It seemed to come from just behind you," said Mrs. Hignett nervously.

"It couldn't have come from just behind me," said Jane, "because there isn't anything behind me from which it could have..." She stopped suddenly, in her eyes the light of understanding, on her face the set expression which was wont to come to it on the eve of action. "Oh!" she said in a different voice, a voice which was cold and tense and sinister. "Oh, I see! She ruled her gun, and placed a muscular forefinger on the trigger. "Come out of that!" she said. "Come out of that suit of armor and let's have a look at you!"

"I can explain everything," said a muffled voice through the vizor of the helmet. "I can—achou!" The snipe of the cigarette (which Sam's nostrils sniffed, and he suspended his remarks) "I shall count then," said Jane Hubbard. "One—two—"

"I'm coming! I'm coming!" said Sam petulantly.

"You'd better!" said Jane.

"I can't get this damned helmet off!"

"If you don't come quick, I'll blow it off!"

Sam stepped out into the hall, a picturesque figure which combined the costumes of two widely separated centuries. Modern as far as the neck, he stepped back at that point to the Middle Ages.

"Hands up!" commanded Jane Hubbard.

"My hands are up!" retorted Sam petulantly, as he wrenched at his unbending head-plate.

"Never mind trying to raise your hat," said Jane. "If you've lost the combination, we'll dispense with the formalities. What we're anxious to hear is what you're doing in the house at this time of night, and who your pals are. Come along, my lad, make a clean breast of it and perhaps you'll get off easier. Are you a gnat?"

"Do I look like a gnat?"

"If you ask me what you look like..."

My name is Samuel... Samuel Marlowe.

"What's that?"

"What's that? I say my name is Samuel Marlowe."

An explosive roar burst from Mr. Bennett.

"The sound! I know him! I forbade him to be here, and..."

"And by what right did you forbid people my house, Mr. Bennett?" said Mrs. Hignett with severity.

"I've rented the house, Mortimer and I rented it from your son."

"Yes, yes, yes," said Jane Hubbard. "Never mind about that. So you know this fellow, do you?"

"I don't know him."

"You said you did."

"I refuse to know him!" went on Mr. Bennett. "I won't know him! I decline to have anything to do with him!"

"But you identify him?"

"If he says he's Samuel Marlowe," asserted Mr. Bennett grudgingly, "I suppose he is. I can't imagine anybody saying he was Samuel Marlowe if he didn't know it could be proved against him."

"Are you my nephew, Samuel?" said Mrs. Hignett.

"Yes," said Sam.

"Well, what are you doing in my house?"

"It's my house," said Mr. Bennett, "for the summer. Henry Mortimer's and mine. Isn't that right, Henry?"

"Don't right," said Mr. Mortimer.

"There!" said Mr. Bennett. "You hear? And when Henry Mortimer says a thing, it's so. There's nobody's word I'd take before Henry Mortimer's."

"When Rufus Bennett makes an assertion," said Mr. Mortimer, "highly factored by these kind words, 'You can bank on it, Rufus Bennett's word is his bond.' Rufus Bennett is a white man!"

The two old friends clasped hands with a good deal of feeling.

"I am not disputing Mr. Bennett's claim to belong to the Caucasian race," said Mrs. Hignett. "I merely maintain that this house is..."

"Yes, yes, yes, yes!" interrupted Jane. "You can thrash all that out some other time. The point is, if this fellow is your nephew, I don't see what we can do. We'll have to let him go."

"I came to this house," said Sam, raising his voice to facilitate speech, "to make a good call."

"At this hour of the night?" snapped Mrs. Hignett. "You always were an inconsiderate boy, Samuel."

"I came to inquire after poor Eustace's ankle. I've only just heard that the poor chap was ill."

"He's getting along quite well," said Jane, smiling. "If I had known you were so fond of Eustace..."

"All right, is he?" said Sam.

"Well, not quite all right, but he's going on very nicely."

"Fine!"

"Eustace and I are engaged, you know!"

"No, really? Splendid! I can't see you very distinctly—how those Johnnies in the old days ever contrived to

MOTHER! Children Cry for "Fletcher's Castoria"

Billie cast a glance of contempt at him out of the corner of her eye. She hardly knew why she had spoken to him except that, as all automobilists are aware, the impulse to say rude things about their battery is almost irresistible. To an automobilist the art of conversation consists in rapping out scathing remarks either about the battery or the oiling system.

Billie switched on the headlights and turned the car down the dark drive. She was feeling thoroughly upset. Her idealistic nature had received a painful shock on the discovery of the yellow streak in her son. To call it a yellow streak was to underestimate the facts. It was a great blot of saffron encircling his whole soul. That she, Wilhelmine Bennett, who had gone through the world seeking a Galahad, should find her career as the wife of a man who hid under beds simply because people shot at him with elephant-guns was abhorrent to her. Why, Samuel Marlowe would have perished rather than do such a thing. You might say what you liked about Samuel Marlowe—and, of course, his habit of playing practical jokes put him beyond the pale—but nobody could question his courage. Look at the way he had lived overboard that time in the harbor at New York! Billie found herself thinking hard about Samuel Marlowe.

There are only a few makes of car in which you can think hard about anything except the actual driving without shelling the engine, and Mr. Bennett's "Twelve Six Complex" was not one of them. It stopped as if it had been waiting for the signal. The noise of the engine died away. The wheels ceased to revolve. The automobile did everything except lie down. It was a particularly piteous case and right from the start it had been unable to see the sense in this midnight expedition. It seemed now to have the idea that if it just lay low and did nothing, presently it would be taken back to its cozy garage.

Billie tried on the self-starter. Nothing happened.

"You'll have to get down and crank her," she said curtly.

"All right," said Beam.

"Well, go on," said Billie, impatiently.

"Eh?"

TO BE CONTINUED.

Eight Movable Veins In Northern Somerset

Eight beds of movable coal exist in the northern district of Somerset county, although present production is confined largely to the Lower and Upper Kilmanning beds, which are the thickest and best, are shown by a survey recently completed by James D. Sider, State Geological Survey.

An exhaustive study of drill hole records, and vertical sections of coal beds submitted by the various mining companies were made the basis of the survey which Dr. George H. Ashley, state geologist, said revealed that "this part of the state produces one of the best grades of domestic fuel obtainable."

BITTER CONFLICT ON BETWEEN RIVAL ILLINOIS KLANS

Vicinity of the Herrin Massacre Scene of Present Activities.

STRONGLY ANTI-K. K. K.

By United Press.
MARION, Ill., Oct. 11.—Rival "Klans," the Ku Klux Klan and Knights of the Flaming Circle, have organized widely through the mining district of Southern Illinois, upon which the eyes of the nation was fixed in June, 1922, when 30 men were slain in a battle between guards and miners at the Herrin "strip" mine.

Williamson county, in which Marion and Herrin are located, and the surrounding counties—Jackson, Franklin, Perry and Saline—have been swayed by long lines of Klansmen and anti-Klansmen in motor cars at night during the last two months. Enforcement of prohibition laws is the nominal issue. It grew so acute that the State of Illinois sent an investigator to determine whether the conditions demanded martial law. The investigator reported "all quiet."

The Klansmen, unmasked, 5,000 strong, from all over the county, flooded into the little court house square here—the scene of the famous Herrin trials—and held a mass meeting, a half dozen Williamson county preachers exhorting the Klansmen to "clean out the bootleggers" and denouncing the county authorities for alleged dereliction of duty.

A Klan official, standing on the steps of the brick court house, read a pronouncement offering the county officers complete assistance in cleaning up the county.

"We offer you 10,000 deputies," he said.

The Williamson county board of supervisors met and resolved not to accept the 10,000. "We are not in sympathy with utterances that have been made," they said, referring to the denunciation by the Klansmen of the county officials.

Sherriff George Gallivan was furnished with additional deputies, however, and told to go after the bootleggers.

Meanwhile, during the month of August, the Knights of the Flaming Circle, which had announced formation of a national anti-Klan organization a month before, came into the county. It was reported to have secured several hundred members.

Herrin is largely anti-Ku Klux Klan in population.

A parade of the Knights recently filed 85 automobiles.

A "dancing circle" (electrically lighted), similar in construction to the "flaming cross" of the Klan, is the emblem of the Knights.

A dozen liquor raids were staged late in August and continuing into September, several at Herrin, and more than a score of alleged liquor violators caught with the goods.

On September 3 the property of two Ku Klux Klansmen, a home and a grocery store at Herrin, were discovered on fire. Incendiaries had tossed torches made of oil-soaked rags into the buildings, the fire department said. Both men had been instrumental in securing liquor warrants for alleged bootleggers.

State's Attorney DeLoe Duty, the Herrin riots prosecutor, was fined $500 for contempt of court by County Judge A. D. Morgan after Duty had reduced the bond of an alleged liquor violator to $2,000 from $10,000, the figure set by Judge Morgan. Attorney Duty has an appeal pending.
